

The syllabus, which acts as a contract with your students, presents an overview of the course description, goals and objectives; lists required materials; describes the schedule, assignments, and assessments; clarifies policies (including grading criteria) and expectations. All fields must be included.

UConn ECE COURSE SYLLABUS TEMPLATE

UConn Course Number & Title
Instructor's Name
High School's Name
Semester & Year

This course is given in cooperation with UConn Early College Experience www.ece.uconn.edu

UConn COURSE DESCRIPTION

Include the UConn course description found at <https://ece.uconn.edu/home/courses/>. The description may include additional information about your unique course.

COURSE GOALS/LEARNING OBJECTIVES

A well-developed course is designed around specific course goals and student-learning objectives; these goals and objectives should be articulated for your students (perhaps in a paragraph or a few sentences and a bulleted list) in your syllabus. What will your students take away from the course?

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK AND MATERIALS

Articulate all materials (texts, journals, etc.) students will need to complete the course.

COURSE GRADING

A breakdown of what assignments, participation, and exams are worth. Be sure to add a grade conversion chart on your syllabus. If applicable, you must inform your students that the high school and UConn grade may differ.

“You may notice that your high school grade and UConn grade differ. It is possible that two different grades can be awarded for the same course. Your high school grade is determined by ___ High School. Your UConn course grade is determined by the grading rubric set by the University department.”

ASSIGNMENTS AND REVISION PROCESS

The more detail you provide in these areas, the more informed and prepared your students will be.

COURSE SCHEDULE/TOPICS/CALENDAR/READING LISTS

Calendar of class dates, exams, assignments, topic titles, and so on.

COURSE POLICIES

- Attendance/Participation
- Final Exam Policy
- Makeup Work for Legitimate Absences
- Academic Integrity Statement
- Other policies: The Student Code, the Policy Against Discrimination, Harassment and Related Interpersonal Violence, and other university policies may be found here, <https://provost.uconn.edu/faculty-and-staff-resources/syllabi-references/>.

Disclaimer: I reserve the right to change this syllabus at any time