Course Description and Expected Outcomes:
This course examines the history of the United States from the end of the Civil War to the present. Engaging a range of approaches, we will consider political, economic, cultural, and social histories while paying particular attention to gender, race, sexuality, class, region, nation, and shifting global contexts. We will explore the ways in which we learn and narrate stories of America’s past, individually and collectively, and address the profound consequences this holds not only for general historical understanding and practice, but also for analyzing the nation’s present, future, and the wider workings of power. This class draws upon a variety of texts, including narrative history, journalism, government documents, legal decisions, visual culture, fiction, music, material culture, podcasts, and documentary and feature film.

Students in this class will:
• Acquire a set of themes, narratives, and questions for thinking about the broad sweep of U.S. history since the Civil War
• Examine the diversity of American histories in this period
• Understand race, gender, class, sexuality, region, and nation as interdependent categories of identity, experience, and historical analysis
• Situate contemporary events, politics, and American experiences in their historical contexts
• Become more conversant with a range of methodologies for the study of American history
• Hone critical reading, verbal expression, writing, and test-taking skills
The course is structured around two lectures and a discussion section each week. On Mondays and Wednesdays, we will all meet together in McHugh 102 where Professor McElya will provide analytical frameworks, pose questions, and present information and documents that are not necessarily covered in the textbook. These lectures will not be reiterations of factual information from assigned readings, but are designed with the understanding that you are reading the texts on the schedule described below. On Fridays, you will meet with your TA to discuss information from lectures, the textbook chapters, and documents posted weekly on HuskyCT. You will also use this time to go over assignments, get feedback, and review for exams. It is critical that you complete all reading assignments for the week before Friday meetings. The best approach is to read assigned textbook chapters for Mondays and documents for Fridays. This will allow you to get the most out of lecture and discussion. You should make it a habit to check HuskyCT regularly for course announcements, helpful links, and documents.

Requirements and Class Policies:

Participation: Your success in this class requires thoughtful participation and the completion of all readings and assignments. Each student is expected to attend every class meeting, to be on time, to have read completely and with care all assignments, and to engage actively and in discussions. Please note that attendance alone does not constitute full participation. Discussion section participation grades will be calculated each Friday on a 10-point scale. Being in class and demonstrating focused listening for the full discussion period will earn you 7.0 points; offering your opinions, questions, and ideas will earn more up to 10 points for excellent participation. Excessive tardiness, phone or computer usage, non-class-related talking, or generally disruptive behavior will result in a reduction of points. While attendance does not comprise a numerical part of your grade, it bears noting that you cannot participate if you are not in class.

The assignments are:

- Weekly Textbook Chapter Quizzes online in LaunchPad due on Friday by midnight during the week for which the chapter or chapters are assigned. These will be graded for completion. Quizzes that are not completed by the deadline will be marked as zero points. Late quizzes will not be graded. There are 16 quizzes during the semester, you will be graded on 15, meaning everyone may skip one quiz at a time of their choice. The first quiz for Chapter 16 is not required, but will be counted as extra credit, meaning that if you complete it by Friday, January 25, at midnight, you will have an extra skip for later in the term.

- Five Response Papers of no more and no fewer than two pages on questions provided a week in advance due at the beginning of section on the Fridays of your choosing. The questions will be posted on HuskyCT by Friday morning a week before they are due. Response papers cannot be e-mailed to the professor or TAs. You must hand them to your TA at the beginning of section in hardcopy. While you have control over your response writing schedule and should make plans based on your interests, your other assignments and exams for this course, and the work and due dates in your other classes, you must complete at least three responses by the Friday of Week Ten, March 27. Late response papers will not be accepted. Please see the grading rubric for more detail on this assignment.

- A 50-minute midterm and 2-hour final exam to be written in class using blue books that will be provided for you. We will hand out review sheets in advance. You will be allowed to bring one 8.5 x 11 sheet of paper with notes to the exam that you must hand in with your test book.

- Extra Credit opportunities will be available throughout the semester, including options connected to visiting speakers and other campus events.

Grades will be calculated in the following manner:

- Participation = 10%
- Chapter Quizzes = 10%
- Response Papers = 30%
- Midterm exam = 20%
- Final exam = 30%

Class Policies/University Policies:

- The Unplugged Classroom: You may not use computers or cell phones during lecture or discussion—please leave them at home or in your bag. Accommodations will be made for any student with the appropriate documentation from CSD.

- Accessibility: To request accommodations for a disability you must first contact the Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). CSD engages in an interactive process with each student and reviews requests for accommodations on an individualized, case-by-case basis. Depending on the nature and functional limitations of a student’s documented disability, he/she may be eligible for academic accommodations. CSD collaborates with students and their faculty to coordinate approved accommodations and services for qualified students with disabilities. If you have a documented disability for which you wish to request academic accommodations and have not contacted the CSD, please do so as soon as possible. The CSD is located in Wilbur Cross, Room 204 and can be reached at (860) 486-2020 or at csd@uconn.edu. Detailed information regarding the process to request accommodations is available on the CSD website at www.csd.uconn.edu.

- Academic Integrity and Misconduct: I take academic integrity very seriously, and expect everyone in my classes to do so as well. Cheating and plagiarism, which includes the misrepresentation of another’s ideas as your own as well as copying word-for-word from another source, will not be tolerated. Any case of misconduct will be handled in accordance with the guidelines outlined in The Student Code.

- University Policy on Final Exams: Students should check their final examination schedule to see if they have either: (a) four examinations in two consecutive calendar days; (b) three examinations in one calendar day; (c) three examinations in consecutive time-blocks spanning parts of two consecutive days

If any of the above apply, they may request the Dean of Students Office to rearrange their schedule. The Dean of Students Office will select one of the examinations for rescheduling and notify the instructor, usually with a letter given to the student.
