Credit Transfer Database

University of Connecticut Office of Early College Programs (OECP) sponsors the credit transfer database. The database provides information on the likelihood of the transferability of UConn credit earned through UConn ECE to a particular institution. To navigate the database, enter an institution's name in the search field or click on the interactive map. Information about transferring concurrent enrollment credits will appear. Transfer success probability is displayed by the star rating: 1 star indicates credit transfer is unlikely and 3 stars indicated credit transfer is highly likely. This database is only to be used as a guide and cannot guarantee the success of credit transfer. All information is subject to change at any time and without notice.
